Inventory Process and Scoring Information

The inventory was completed in a series of steps. The planning team first prepared a preliminary list of existing components using aerial photography and available Geographic Information System (GIS). Components identified in the aerial photo were given GIS points and names.

Next, field visits were conducted by the consulting team to confirm the preliminary data and collect additional information.

During the field visits and evaluations, missing components were added to the data set, and each component was evaluated as to how well it met expectations for its intended function. During the site visits the following information was collected:

- Component type
- Component location
- Evaluation of component condition - record of comfort and convenience features
- Evaluation of comfort and convenience features
- Evaluation of park design and ambience
- Site photos
- General comments

The inventory team used the following three-tier rating system to evaluate each component:

B = Below Expectations (1)

M = Meets Expectations (2)

E = Exceeds Expectations (3)

The scores were based on such things as the condition of the component, its size, or capacity relative to the need at that location, and its overall quality.

Components were evaluated from two perspectives: first, the value of the component in serving the immediate neighborhood, and second, its value to the entire community.

The setting for a component and the conditions around it affect how well it functions, so in addition to scoring the components, each park site or indoor facility was given a set of scores to rate its comfort, convenience, and ambient qualities. This includes such things as the availability of restrooms, drinking water, shade, scenery, etc.

Information collected during the site visit was then compiled and corrections and comparisons made to GIS. Following the comparisons and compilation, the inventory is sent to the city staff for corrections and comments.
